

Oklahoma country music star Blake Shelton is "in a good place," three months after his divorce from Miranda Lambert, according to people.com. "I'm good, I'm good," the 39-year-old said during an interview last weekend on CMT's "Hot 20 Countdown." "I'm not in rehab. I have to pick up a magazine every now and then to see what my alter ego, I guess, (is doing)... I'm in a good place. I wasn't, but I am now. It's amazing how quickly life can turn around for you. I've had some pretty cool things in recent times that have happened, and I'm loving it." "The Voice" coach laughed about media speculation that he has lost a lot of weight since he and Lambert's divorce was finalized July 20. "I would like to sit here and tell you that I've been exercising, but I haven't been," he said. "But I push-mow my lawn because I am so stupid, I guess. I mean I have made all this money. At this point, I could have a riding lawn mower or hire somebody to come and mow my lawn." Oklahoma's rainy summer is to blame for the lawn-mowing crisis on his ranch near Tishomingo, he said. "In the middle of processing the chaos with my personal life, I walked out and I was thinking, 'What's going on in my life?'" he joked. "I mean, 'This is so crazy, (but) what the hell is going on with my yard? It's like, are you kidding me? It's like 3 feet tall out here. What happened?'" He said mowing with the push mower was rough going. "It's like it's a push mower. Why do I even have a push mower? What am I doing? Aren't I somebody? I'm not somebody, I guess." His answer: Hook the brush hog up to his tractor and brush hog the yard. But there were consequences. "I ended up with these big ol' ruts in my yard." He continues to act as coach on the ninth season of "The Voice" (7-9 p.m. Monday and 8 p.m. Tuesday on NBC, channel 2, cable 1002) while promoting his career-history collection "Reloaded: 20 #1 Hits," due out Oct. 23. And he and Lambert are on good terms, he said in an interview on the Bobby Bones Show late last month. "Our whole thing was: You know, we're just going to be cool about this. It is what it is," he said. "We're buddies."
