

CASHION — With the ultrasound before them, Ryan Hamil, 3, and his brother, Cole, 15 months, could hardly sit still. They had one sister and soon would have another. Hank Hamil, a custom harvester, had started wheat harvest in Throckmorton, Texas, but came home for the day, just for the visit to the hospital. He and his wife, Catherine, recall the looks on the boys' faces as they watched the motion on the screen.