

National college football analyst Kirk Herbstreit shared his thoughts about Oklahoma quarterback Baker Mayfield planting an OU flag in the middle of his alma mater's field after the Sooners' win over Ohio State in Columbus. "That was probably a little bit uncalled for," he said Monday on "The Dan Patrick Show." But Herbstreit, who provided analysis for Saturday night's game on ABC, also offered much praise for Mayfield. "The way he played was incredible," he said. "If you know him personally, like I do ... it (the flag-planting) was more playful for him" than malicious, he said. But Herbstreit, who played quarterback for OSU from 1989-1993, added, "It's definitely not going to come across that way to Ohio State fans, anyway." Mayfield on Monday apologized for the act. Listen to a portion of Herbstreit's interview with Dan Patrick in the video below: