

Tulsa Audubon Society will host guest speaker The Tulsa Audubon Society's October program will feature a presentation about bird-window collisions on Tuesday, Oct. 17. Nathan Kuhnert's program is titled "A Window Into Bird Fatalities." Kuhnert has closely documented the number of bird-window collisions in downtown Oklahoma City and will share his findings and estimate of national annual mortality. His presentation will also include what people can do minimize this risk for birds at home. Members of the Tulsa Audubon Society will have examples of bird tape on hand for people to see how it works to prevent window strikes. The meeting will begin with refreshments at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the Tulsa Garden Center, 2435 S. Peoria Ave. The program will start at 7:30 p.m. The meeting is open and free to the public. "Master Your Grill"™ with Hasty-Bake class Tulsa Garden Center is partnering with Hasty-Bake Ambassadors to host a special Holiday Grilling class Thursday, Oct. 19. Guests will learn how to prepare a ham and leg of lamb on Hasty-Bake grills. The class includes a meal accompanied by complimentary beer and wine. The final class is part of a series and is scheduled from 5:30-7:30 p.m. at the Tulsa Garden Center Auditorium, 2435 S. Peoria Ave. The cost for the class and meal is $55 for TGC members or $65 for nonmembers.

Reservations are required. For information or to register visit, tulsagardencenter.com/events or call 918-576-5155. F volunteer day is set for rose garden The Tulsa Garden Center will host the final volunteer day in the Tulsa Municipal Rose Garden from 7-10 a.m. Saturday, Oct.

21. Volunteers are needed to help put the rose garden in tip-top shape. Gardeners and volunteers alike are encouraged to bring friends, gloves and favorite weeding tools to meet at 7 a.m. in the north end of the Tulsa Garden Center parking lot, 2435 S. Peoria Ave. Master Gardeners set Lunch & Learn series The Tulsa

Master Gardeners will begin fall gardening Lunch & Learn sessions on select Tuesdays starting Oct. 24 at the Tulsa Central Library. The first session, titled "Fall Trees and Shrubs," will feature a presentation on which trees and shrubs can be planted now for the best success. The class is scheduled from 12:10-12:50 p.m. Oct. 24 at Tulsa Central Library, 400 Civic Center. The following programs include "Winterizing Houseplants" on Oct. 31, "Composting 101" on Nov. 7 and "How to Plant Bulbs" on Nov. 14.

The sessions are free and no registration is required. Attendees are encouraged to bring lunch to enjoy during the presentation. For information, call 918-746-3701. Garden club information or garden-related events can be sent to Tulsa World writer Jessica Rodrigo at jessica.rodrigo @tulsaworld.com.