

Tulsa State Fair: The Tulsa State Fair comes to a close Sunday at Expo

Square with carnival rides, midway games, attractions, concerts, creative art displays and much more.

Find all of your favorite foods-on-a-stick and take in a variety of agricultural exhibits, numerous kitchen demonstrations and vendor booths galore. Admission is $10 for adults and $6 for children age 5-12. Kids younger than 5 admitted free. For more information, visit tulsastatefair.com. OKC Thunder: The Oklahoma City Thunder returns to Tulsaâ€™s BOK Center to take on the Atlanta Hawks at 2 p.m. Sunday. It will be the Thunderâ€™s 10th preseason game at the BOK. Tickets start at $16 and are available at bokcenter.com.

Native American Day: The Cherokee Nation is joining the Greater Tulsa Area Indian Affairs

Commission and the city of Tulsa for a second annual Native American Day celebration

Monday at Guthrie Green. A parade will begin at 11:30 a.m. and will lead into the official program at 1 p.m., featuring the posting of colors, live music, a prayer and a welcome from tribal leaders. The day will include cultural events, live music, dance performances, film screenings, food trucks, vendors and more. Events are open to the public and free to attend. For more information and a full list of the dayâ€™s events, visit facebook.com/NativeAmericanDayTulsa.
